Chinese New Year ~ Open House

Friday, January 31st 1:30-7pm

HAPPY NEW YEAR, HAPPY NEW YOU!

The second new moon after the winter solstice marks the beginning of spring. This year on January 31, 2014 we burst into the energy of the wood horse. In the Chinese system, each year is associated with one of 12 animals. The year has some of the characteristics and energy of that animal. The horse has great momentum, graciousness, speed, and perseverance. This will be a time when there could be a shift to a new adventure or victory. It might be the chance to consider that possibility that has been on the back burner for a while. Generally, the year of the horse brings luck and good fortune.
